The Commonwealth Scholarship Commission in the United Kingdom (CSC) awards over 900 scholarships and fellowships for postgraduate study and professional development to Commonwealth citizens each year.

The CSC aims to contribute to the UK's international development aims and wider overseas interests, support excellence in UK higher education, and sustain the principles of the Commonwealth. Candidates are selected on the basis of merit and their potential to contribute to the needs of their home countries.

Commonwealth Scholarships and Fellowships in the UK are funded by the Department for International Development (for developing Commonwealth countries), and the Department for Business, Energy and Industrial Strategy and the Scottish Government (for developed Commonwealth countries), in conjunction with UK universities.

The CSC offers:

Commonwealth Scholarships for PhD research and for Master's study for postgraduate study at any UK university which has a funding agreement with the CSC. Candidates should apply in the first instance to the national nominating agency of their resident country. Additional nominations are sought each year from developing country universities and other sources.

Commonwealth Split-site Scholarships for PhD candidates to spend up to 12 months in the UK as part of their doctoral studies. Candidates should apply directly to the CSC.

Commonwealth Shared Scholarships for Master's study, for students from developing countries who would not otherwise be able to study in the UK, jointly supported by UK universities. Universities are invited each year to bid to host these scholarships.

Commonwealth Distance Learning Scholarships for Master's study, for students from developing countries to study UK degree courses while living in their home countries. UK universities are invited each year to register expressions of interest for the CSC to support their course(s).

Commonwealth Academic Fellowships for early career academics from developing countries – including the CSC's own PhD alumni – to conduct research and network. Alumni should apply directly to the CSC; nominations are also invited from selected universities.

Commonwealth Professional Fellowships for mid-career professionals from developing countries to spend time at a UK organisation. Applications are invited each year from UK organisations from any sector that wish to host these fellowships.

Commonwealth Medical Fellowships for mid-career medical staff from developing countries to enhance their clinical skills. Nominations are invited from selected universities.

The CSC was established by Act of Parliament in 1959, and is a non-departmental public body. It comprises up to 14 Commissioners and a chair, who are appointed by the Secretary of State for International Development in line with the Public Appointments Commissioner's code of practice. The CSC's Secretariat is provided by the Association of Commonwealth Universities, based in London; overseas services are provided by the British Council.

The CSC manages the UK's contribution to the Commonwealth Scholarship and Fellowship Plan (CSFP), an international programme under which member governments offer scholarships and fellowships to citizens of other Commonwealth countries.

Full information on the scholarships and fellowships administered by the CSC, including application procedures and eligibility requirements, is available at www.dfid.gov.uk/cscuk

Foreword

We have the honour to submit, pursuant to Schedule 2, Section 13, Clause (5) 2 of the International Development Act 2002, the following report of the Commonwealth Scholarship Commission in the United Kingdom for the year ending 30 September 2016.

Every year brings new successes for Commonwealth Scholars. This year's examples include the recently appointed Vice-Chancellor of the University of Cambridge in the UK, the new President of Stanford University in the USA, and the Director of Public Prosecutions in Malawi. They join hundreds of prime and cabinet ministers, ambassadors and central bank governors, vice-chancellors and a Nobel laureate who have held our awards, and thousands more working to help the development of their countries in the most practical ways.

The Commonwealth Scholarship Commission (CSC) is a UK public body. For almost 60 years, we have awarded scholarships and fellowships to the brightest of Commonwealth citizens to study at UK universities. Regular evaluation and alumni activity demonstrate a proven record of success. This report details how and where we have used our grant-in-aid in 2015-2016. This forms part of a much wider picture. Over 26,000 Commonwealth Scholars and Fellows have benefited from our awards, many going on to make profound improvements in their countries and regions.

Commonwealth Scholarships are the UK's programme of international development scholarships. Most of our funding comes primarily from the Department for International Development, and is focused on achieving the UK government's strategic development objectives. Additional funding from other government departments ensures that awards are also available to outstanding students from developed Commonwealth countries. We are confident of our impact because we measure it through regular surveys and evaluation. Our most recent survey analysis demonstrated that Commonwealth Scholarships contribute to gains across a range of important outcomes, and particularly so for respondents from lower income countries.

Our evaluation programme is also increasingly undertaking qualitative research with a variety of stakeholders, including our alumni. Our two most recent profiles show the breadth of the socioeconomic and political impact of the CSC's support, from research and advocacy for women's health in Bangladesh to the development of research links between Canada and the UK on the history of migration and tourism. Full details of our evaluation work are available at bit.ly/cscuk-evaluation

We are also the only HMG programme to provide significant numbers of research scholarships for developing country students, thereby contributing to UK universities' world-leading research on global challenges. In this report year, over 400 Commonwealth Scholars undertook doctoral-level research at nearly 70 UK universities. Following completion of their PhD, many Scholars sustain collaborative partnerships between countries in Africa, Asia, and the Caribbean and the UK throughout their academic career, to the mutual benefit of all. Research is teamwork, on an international scale. Universities recognise the quality of our students through generous partnership and fee waiver programmes, adding over £4.7 million to our budget.

Our work relies on a wide range of stakeholders. Thanks are due to the Department for International Development, the Department for Business, Innovation and Skills, and the Scottish Government, for their generous funding – as well as UK universities. We also appreciate the input of our panel of over 200 academic advisers, who give their time freely in support of our selection processes. Above all, our success reflects the efforts of our outstanding Scholars, Fellows, and alumni, whose achievements remain at the heart of our work.

Chair

Dr John Kirkland
Executive Secretary

2015-2016 business plan – priorities

The CSC business plan indicates the ways in which it will pursue its role during each financial year, and its budget for the year. It should be read in conjunction with the corporate plan, which embeds this activity in the CSC's longer-term strategy. The priorities set out in the CSC corporate plan and business plan during 2015-2016 are listed below, along with a report on activity in each area.

Priority: Ensure that awards are fully aligned with the objectives of DFID and other sponsoring organisations, whilst maintaining academic and professional integrity

Report: This is ensured through regular meetings of the full Commission and the Executive Group, as well as the CSC's four Committees (Audit and Risk Management, Awards Policy, Evaluation and Monitoring, and Finance). DFID representatives attend Commission meetings and there is regular liaison with departments within DFID alongside these meetings. In addition, the CSC has a timetable for review and update of its key governance and policy documents, and for audit.

Priority: Maintain progress towards the targets agreed with DFID for the 2011-15 period which are set out below

Report: Progress against the 14 key performance indicators is set out on page 8 of this report.

Priority: Ensure that our provision of awards remains relevant, accessible, and good value for money

Report: The Evaluation and Monitoring, and Awards Policy Committees are responsible for ensuring that the CSC's provision remains relevant, accessible, and good value for money. In the 2015-2016 report year, a working group to look at the issue of equity and access across the CSC's provision was established, with this work to be taken forward in 2016-2017.

Priority: Provide evidence of the impact of its awards on recipients and their home countries

Report: Baseline surveys were distributed to Scholars and Academic and Medical Fellows starting their awards in 2015-2016. A new longitudinal post-award Scholar survey due to launch in 2016 was designed and successfully piloted. Post-award surveys for Fellows were successfully distributed, and qualitative methods have been further developed.

Priority: Initiate activities and encourage award holders and alumni to maintain closer links with the scheme, and thereby contribute more effectively to development

Report: 27 student engagement events (including 10 events organised by the CSC's Regional Networks) and 27 alumni events were held in 2015-2016. An 'opt-out' alumni model was introduced so that award holders are automatically signed up as alumni while on award; none have chosen to opt out to date. Monthly email newsletters are sent to award holders and selected candidates, in addition to regular email communication with alumni. Both award holders and alumni contribute to the CSC's magazine, Common Knowledge, and are featured in news stories on the CSC's website.

Priority: Introduce and consolidate new methods of governance, in line with the recommendations of the recent review of the Commission's non-departmental public body (NDPB) status

Report: Actions from the review have been completed. The CSC's governance documents and policies are updated annually (at the November Audit and Risk Management and December Commission meetings) and published on the GOV.UK website. The CSC has an ongoing programme of audit by DFID's Internal Audit Department; two audits were carried out in 2015-2016: an audit of selection processes was finalised in May 2015, and an audit of risk management procedures was completed in February 2016.

Priority: Continue to review the proportion of our administration costs, thereby maximising the proportion of resources devoted to scholarships and fellowships, and other directly related activities

Report: Administration costs were 5.9% of the total grant-in-aid in 2015-2016, from 6.7% in 2014-2015 and 7.3% in 2013-2014 (see pages 36-37 for more detail).

Priority: Contribute to the maintenance of a vibrant Commonwealth-wide CSFP

Report: A report on the Commonwealth Scholarship and Fellowship Plan (CSFP) was presented to ministers at the 19th Conference of Commonwealth Education Ministers (19CCEM) in June 2015, alongside presentations from two Commonwealth Scholars. Individual meetings were also held at 19CCEM with education ministers/representatives from nine Commonwealth countries to discuss their involvement in the CSFP and its endowment fund. A report on future CSFP activity was discussed by the Commission at its meeting in December 2015. The CSC participated in a meeting of the CSFP Taskforce (which is considering the future direction of the plan) in January 2016.

Priority: Develop new strategies for 2016 onwards

Report: The CSC has an annual timetable and procedures in place for the update of its business plan and corporate plan which allows its Committees as well as the full Commission to propose and agree new strategies to be included in the plans for the following year

Priority: Continue the review of the work of nominating agencies under the current arrangements

Report: DFID IAD were asked to undertake an audit of the CSC's allocation and selection processes, including the work of national nominating agencies. The audit recommendations were followed up, and a joint meeting of the Evaluation and Monitoring and Awards Policy Committees in July 2015 agreed a plan for increased engagement with nominating agencies. This plan includes mechanisms to seek further information from nominating agencies in order to better understand their processes, as well as establishing 'minimum requirements' for the promotion and selection of awards.

Priority: Continue the review of national agencies and universities as nomination routes

Report: Work with national nominating agencies is ongoing (see above). A review of nominations by developing Commonwealth universities is on the agenda for consideration by the Evaluation and Monitoring Committee.

Priority: Further develop the alumni engagement strategy and review the CSC Professional Networks

Report: A holistic engagement strategy (covering pre-departure, student engagement, and alumni engagement) with a budget for 2015-2016 was agreed in April 2015, with ongoing development of the strategy. An 'opt-out' alumni model was introduced so that award holders are automatically signed up as alumni while on award; none have chosen to opt out to date. There has been increased engagement with UK university alumni offices. Alumni are also increasingly included in CSC events for award holders.

Priority: Review the format and content of the Development Module and prepare terms for retender

Report: The contract with the current provider was extended to March 2016. The Secretariat review process has concluded and recommendations have been presented to a working group of Commissioners.

Priority: Deliver separate Welcome Programmes for Scholars and Fellows

Report: The Welcome Event for Fellows was held on 6 November 2015 in London, and the Welcome Event for Scholars (including Shared Scholars) was held on 27 November 2015 in Nottingham.

Priority: Undertake an evaluation study of the CSC doctoral programme

Report: Evaluation was ongoing in 2015-2016. Completion of the report – presenting a summative analysis of the CSC's support for doctoral study, representing over 7,000 awards and incorporating the demographics of the scheme over the past 50 years, analysis of the trajectories of Commonwealth doctoral alumni, examples of outcomes and impact, and the results of supervisor interviews and surveys – is planned for 2016.

Priority: Undertake an evaluation counterfactual mid-term review

Report: This was completed in January 2015.

Priority: Complete the cycle of evaluation questionnaires to the full alumni group and produce a final analysis report

Report: The 2015 evaluation survey was conducted, with the two final cohorts of alumni being surveyed. Initial analysis was undertaken, with the final report completed and published in full and abridged formats in March 2016.

Priority: Coordinate an external review of the CSC's activities for the period 2011-2015

Report: The terms of reference for the review are under reconsideration following legal advice on procurement.

Priority: Co-ordinate with DFID to deliver seminars in areas of evaluation impact and innovation

Report: A seminar on innovation in distance learning was held on 1 December 2015, including presentations from three of the CSC's distance learning providers. A seminar on evaluation impact was postponed while internal planning and development of approaches to impact and value for money took place.

2015 awards

In this report, we both present the total numbers of awards held in 2015-2016 and show which of these are new awards taken up in the period. 1,632 awards were held in the 2015-2016 report year. 912 of these were new 2015 awards taken up.

Region

44 countries were represented in the 2015 intake for Commonwealth Scholarships and Fellowships (see pages 20-22). The CSC does not have specific quotas for individual Commonwealth countries, as the primary concern when selecting candidates is that successful applicants should be of the highest calibre. In the report year, 66% of all awards were made to candidates from sub-Saharan Africa, 26% to those from South Asia, 5% to those from the Caribbean, and 3% to those from other regions, including Australasia, the Pacific, North America, and Europe.

2015 awards – region

Level of study

The CSC operates three distinct schemes supporting Master’s study: Commonwealth Scholarships for Master’s study, Commonwealth Shared Scholarships, and Commonwealth Distance Learning Scholarships. Across all three schemes, 599 candidates took up awards for taught study in the report year, reflecting the diverse and relevant range of Master’s courses offered by UK universities.

Doctoral scholarships remain a significant part of the CSC’s portfolio of awards, through two programmes: Commonwealth Scholarships for PhD study, and Commonwealth Split-site Scholarships. Across both schemes, 151 candidates took up awards for doctoral study, including 28 awards to academic staff at universities in developing countries.

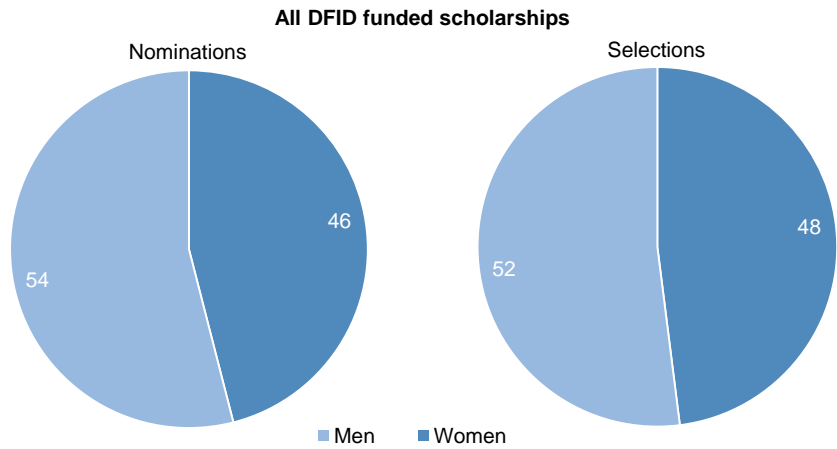

2015 and 2014 awards – type of study

Gender

The CSC has continued its work on encouraging the participation of women in all its programmes. While positive discrimination is not a factor in selection, the importance of a fair gender balance is highlighted to nominating agencies. The CSC invites nominations from women's universities in South Asia and from the Forum for African Women Educationalists, with the aim of increasing female participation. In terms of financial support on award, provision is made for Scholars on longer awards who are accompanied by their families.

2015 nominations and selections – gender

The CSFP

As part of the UK's contribution to the Commonwealth Scholarship and Fellowship Plan (CSFP), the CSC also nominates UK candidates for Commonwealth Scholarships offered by other Commonwealth countries. In 2015-2016, a total of 7 award holders from the UK were funded for doctoral study in New Zealand, studying Biology, Chemical Sciences, Geology, Psychology, Public Health, and Sports Science.

Working with UK universities

The CSC plays an important role in attracting the best and brightest talent to UK universities. In return, UK universities support the CSC's activities through:

- Part funding Commonwealth Scholarships for developed Commonwealth country citizens
- Part funding Commonwealth Scholarships for developing Commonwealth country citizens through tuition fee contributions
- Providing funding for Commonwealth Shared Scholarships
- Hosting Commonwealth Academic Fellowships
- Partnering with overseas institutions to offer Commonwealth Split-site Scholarships and Commonwealth Distance Learning Scholarships

The following universities currently have part funding agreements with the CSC for Commonwealth Scholarships for developing Commonwealth country citizens:

National nominating agencies

Applications for Commonwealth Scholarships for PhD research and Master's study in the UK are made in the first instance to the nominating agency in the candidate's home country, as listed below. Full details are available on the CSC website.

Each agency is responsible for its own selection criteria. The CSC Secretariat in the UK is able to advise on which agency to approach in particular circumstances, but is not responsible for the decisions or procedures adopted by the agencies concerned.

Governance statement

The Commonwealth Scholarship Commission in the United Kingdom (CSC) was established by Act of Parliament in 1959 in order to manage the UK contribution to the Commonwealth Scholarship and Fellowship Plan (CSFP), launched by Commonwealth education ministers in 1958. Its status was subsequently reaffirmed in the International Development Act of 2002 (the Act).

The CSC is a non-departmental public body, for which the Department for International Development (DFID) is the lead department and main sponsor, focusing exclusively on awards that deliver on poverty reduction. Other financial contributions are received from the Department for Business, Energy and Industrial Strategy and the Scottish Government for awards to Scholars from richer Commonwealth countries. The CSC is independent of government in its decision-making and operations; the Act legislates that the Secretary of State may not give any direction for the selection or rejection of any particular person for an award or as a candidate for an award. The CSC submits an Annual Report on its work each year to the Secretary of State; this forms the basis of a report submitted by the Secretary of State to Parliament, to which (s)he is ultimately responsible for the work of the CSC.

In addition to regulations provided in the 1959 Act (which have been confirmed in subsequent Development Acts) and subsequent Ministerial Directives, detailed governance arrangements for the CSC have been set out in a framework document. The framework includes an associated financial memorandum and the CSC's three-year corporate and one-year business plans. The DFID Internal Audit Department (IAD) provides the CSC's internal audit function. The CSC's annual income and expenditure are incorporated in the overall accounts of DFID, and the CSC account is held with the Government Banking Service.

The Commission currently comprises 15 members, including the Chair, who are appointed in accordance with the principles of the Code of Practice for Ministerial Appointments to Public Bodies. Members are appointed by the Secretary of State for an initial period of three years, with the possibility of renewal for one further three-year appointment. The Executive Secretary of the Commission is the Accounting Officer for the CSC, with responsibility to the Secretary of State for its conduct and performance. It is expected that the Chair and other relevant officials will meet with relevant ministers at least annually to discuss the work of the CSC.

The full Commission meets three times per year. It is supported in its work by specialist committees, made up of Commissioners, which deal with Finance, Audit and Risk Management, Awards Policy, and Evaluation and Monitoring. Separate committees of Commissioners are convened to handle the selection of scholarship recipients. The CSC has no employees, contracting out its Secretariat and other management functions to two external bodies: the Association of Commonwealth Universities (ACU) and the British Council. The effectiveness and value for money of these arrangements are formally evaluated annually by the Finance Committee, which recommends appropriate action to the full Commission. The CSC operates an Evaluation and Monitoring Programme which provides evidence of the impact of its work, through interviews and surveys of alumni and other stakeholders. The results of this programme influence the CSC's decision-making processes.

The status of the CSC was subject to an independent assessment by DFID in 2013, as part of the Government's rolling programme of triennial review of public bodies. This review reported in September 2013 that the functions carried out by the CSC are required and that the delivery model is appropriate and offers value for money.

Notes

1. These figures were consolidated in DFID's audited Annual Report and Accounts 2016/15.
2. The CSC also engaged independent auditors to inspect the statement that the CSC submitted to DFID. This work found no exceptions to what was expected.
3. This activity is managed by the Commonwealth Scholarship Commission in the United Kingdom.
4. In 2015/2016, funds from BIS and the Scottish Government were channelled through DFID, in line with government practice.
5. The CSC holds no fixed assets.
6. The CSC employs no staff.
7. The cost of administration before adding VAT was 5.0% in 2015/2016, down from 5.6% in 2014/2015.
8. The contribution of UK universities to CSC programmes, through maintenance payments and tuition fees, was a further £4.79m. Such partnership contributions increase the number of awards available.
9. Having no VATable outputs, the CSC is not registered for VAT so cannot reclaim VAT on any of its inputs.
